To Defy Old Age, Keep The Heart Young

Commonway By Beatrice Fairfax office of the Commonway KNOW a little old woman of 70 whose heart is as young as though she were in the twenties. Her hair is as white as snow, but in her eyes there burns the fire and vim of youth.

She has worked hard all her life and has saved quite a sum of money. Her people are anxious that she should stop working and live comfortably on her savings for the rest of her days; but she says she is too young to give up work yet

So she trots cheerfully about the kitchen. She is a cook, and makes the best ples in the country. She has a keer sense of humor, and her laugh rings out a dozen times a day as gay and merry as a girl's. She likes to have young people about her, "For," she says, "Sure, Miss, we are all young together, and do be having a fine time." Dear little old woman! Her heart is as sweet and pure and kindly as a baby's, and that is what keeps her so young. Time could not have the heart to do other than deal gently with her.

. You can all keep young, if you keep from getting into a rut and keep your interest in people and things alive.

Gray hairs and wrinkles will come, but it is the spirit that really keeps you young. If your heart gets dried and old it will show in your face, for the eyes are the windows of the soul and the truest index to your character. If you are an unmarried woman, don't sink into the typical old maid

Don't be kittenish. Nothing is more objectionable than the kittenish woman. But keep young.

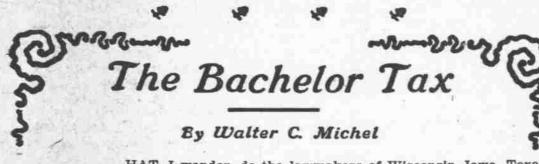

Keep abreast with the times. Be interested in young people and their doings, and don't withdraw yourself into a shell of reserve. Go out and visit your friends, and if you have ailments, keep them to

Don't get into one way of doing things and imagine that your way is the only way; and don't fail to appreciate a joke, even when it is at your own expense.

Look for the sunshine of life, for nothing so preserves youth as cheerfulness.

The mere fact that you are over 50 need not make you an old man or woman. If you take care of yourself and live sensibly, getting plenty of sleep and fresh air, you will be able to hold Father Time at bay for years. Train yourself to take a cheerful view of life. Don't worry over trifles, and don't lose your temper. Frowns are great wrinkle builders. I know that this is a true recipe for youth, for has not my little old 'riend proved it?-New York Evening Journal.

HAT, I wonder, do the lawmakers of Wisconsin, Iowa, Texas and other states, expect to accomplish by their bachelor tax? If they think that they will benefit anybody by telling a man that he must either marry or pay a tax, I think that they are badly mistaken.

In the first place, why are there bachelors? Do they exist just for the fun of the thing, because they don't want a home, because they want to be different from other people or because they can live cheaper in that state? I think

The main reasons they don't marry are twofold: First, they cannot afford to keep a wife, and second, most of the marriageable women are not fit to

Why can't they afford to keep a wife? Simply because the various trades are so overrun with female labor that the man hasn't a chance to earn a man's wages. A woman's sphere is the home, a man's sphere is business.

Why are most of the marriageable women unfit to become wives? I am sure I don't know. It certainly isn't the man's fault that a woman doesn't know how to sew, cook, made a bed correctly, and in fact keep a house in the way a house should be kept.

Every man likes to have a home, a place where he may rest from his labors, a wife and children to welcome him. Give a man a decent position and a woman who knows how to run a home and he will get married every

N the wooded shores of Puget Sound, Washington, the trees sometimes have a diameter of a dozen feet. The cedars, in particular, reach a vast girth, and in the valley by the roadside was one with a circumference at the ground of 63 feet, and nearby was another that had a Gothic arch out through it affording easy passage for a man on horseback. But the tallest trees are the firs. Two hundred feet is a very moderate height, and some shoot up to above three hundred. The fall of one of the monsters when the woodsmen have cut through its base is something appalling. As the tree begins to give the sawyers hustle down from their perch and seek a safe distance. Then they look upward along the giant column and listen. "She's workin' all the time," says one.

"Yes," agrees the other, "you can hear her talkin';" and he gives a Soud cry of "Timber!" to warn any fellow laborers who may be in the neigh-

The creaking and snapping increase, and the tree swings slowly at first, but soon with tremendous rapidity, and crashes down through the forest to the earth. There is a flying of bark and broken branches, and the air is filled with slow-settling dust. The men climb on the prostrate giant and walk him." along the broad pathway of the trunk to see how it lies. What pigmies they seem amid the mighty trees around! The ancient and lofty forest could well look down on them and despise their short-lived insignificance; yet their persistence and ingenuity are irresistible, and the woodland is doomed .-The Outing Magazine.

The Child Must Have Home Training

By Percival Chubb, of the Ethical Culture Society

UR old home culture, and, wrose still, the old home pieties. are disappearing. The church and Sunday school have not kept pace with modern pedagogy, and are losing their hold on society at large. In the increase of hoodlumism, divorce, child labor, luxury and extravagance, there is a relaxation of moral muscle, and in distress we are turning to the schools to stem the tide of moral insufficiency. President Eliot said spend more money for education; but it is a mistake. We cannot transfer the duties of the home or of the church to the school. In his social environment, in the time he spends out of school, child gets more education or miseducation than he gets in it. We have to come back to the old idea of having the parents purge out the moral malaria.-Leslie's Weekly.

Jury Late Tuesday. Nashville, Tenn., Special.-The general belief that the case would go to the jury Monday caused the largest crowd yet assembled to try to get into the court house for the final scenes of the trial of Col. Dunean B. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John D. Sharp for the murder of United States Senator Edward W. Carmack. But there was another delay. After Attorney General McCarn had closed for the State Judge Hart announced that he had not completed the charge but hoped to have it ready some time

Tuesday. General McCarn spoke only a little over an hour but closed with a burst of eloquence, a farewell invocation to Carmack, "statesman, patriot, diplomat, Christian, gentleman and friend." General McCarn's argument is considered to be a remarkably able, and strong one. This is his first big case, almost the first case he has actuall, tried since he took the oath of office last September and his friends were out in force to se how he acquitted himself.

Mrs. Carmack was in court again heavily veiled as usual. When General McCarn reached his peroration she leaned over and rested her head upon her sister's shoulder.
